“Finally, a sabbatical. This one is permanent”

Dr. Ralph O'Brien, Professor of Biostatistics
Department of Epidemiology and Biostatistics & CCI Statistical Sciences Core
Case Western Reserve University

Abstract: "When I was tenured and promoted to Associate Professor within the Psychology Department at U Virginia in 1982, I soon resigned to join Statistics at U Tennessee, thereby forfeiting a sabbatical leave. When I was promoted to Professor at UTenn in 1989, I soon left to join Biostatistics/Statistics at U Florida, again forfeiting another sabbatical opportunity. Finally, about a year ago, I learned that the Carolyn and Ralph O'Brien (Retirement) Fund was now sufficiently well-endowed to award me a permanent sabbatical. What am I going to do? Play golf? Of course. But also so much more."
